Holiday Hearts.

Holiday hearts! 'tis weather for wooir g;
And holiday time is the best to woo;
At throb of three le, and enckoo's cooling,
The heart of men, and of maiden too,
Should leap at the thought that winter's over,
And shout when the drealiest day departs;
For summer is sweet to the love and lover,
And treathes her song into holiday hearts!

Holiday hearts! the wanderer wishes
To woo the girl he could love so well;
She's all to him—over the plat's and dishes,
At table d'hote in the Grand Hotel;
But all tee soon the romance is over.
He is Laly-bound, and his dear departs
By night express with her maid to Dover;
Ah! sad break-up for the holiday hearts!

Holiday,hearts, the or cheter's crazy,
His team arrives at the town Torquay,
But the Captain shouts that his "leg" is lazy,
It is not the sun, and is not the sea;
'Tis somepody sus; as the eve discloses
Before the time for the team to start,
For there is the gridgater under the roses For there is the cricketer under the roses, And making a match with a holiday heart!

Holiday hearts! the garden's pleasant,
When all the toil of pleasuring's dene:
There's nothing so sad as the moonlight present,
And potting so sweet in the world, as one
Who over the lawn comes aweeping surely
With dancing weary a d heat oppress'd?
Or is it with downcast eyes, demurely,
To say the riddle of love-time's guess'd?

Holiday hearts on Alpine passes,
And holl lav hearts on the cockney Rhine,
And ever so many in flow ring grasses,
Which round the Devonshire lance entwine.
Holidas hearts! to scarborough scramble,
And many are dreaming on Windermere,
But double as many in Jersey ramble,
And more than all are on Margate pier.

Holids y hearts? through June and after,
Throughout the honey of hot July.
There's nothing for you but your loves and laughter,
Till latest tewes in the autumn die.
The summer is long, and will not be over
Till still is yours, which you all love best;
Bo away to has seent of sea and clover,
Ch! all I wish is a moment's rest!

KOOPMANSCHAAP Who He is-How He has Aided Chinese lumigration. Mr. Koopmanschapp, the Chinese emigrant importer, left Memphis for New York on Friday, and will return next month to perfect plans for introducing Chinese coolies. The St. Louis Lepublican, of the 15th instant,

One of the visitors on Change, on Tuesday, was C. Klopmanschasp, Esq. a gentleman who, although a resident of the United States but massleen years, has already changed the re-lation while of labor on the Pande shore, and is now or energy to the labor on the pande shore, and is now preparing to play a most important, par-in the disposition of the social and conomical problem resulting from the change of the relaproblem resulting from the change of the relations between capital and abor in the Southern half of the Alastic States! Arriving in San Francisco from the place of his nativity, Amsterdam, Holland, in 1850, his attention was directed to the tabor question as then developed in the Goldan State, the main feature of which was abundance of capital and the almost total lack of abolera. In this condition of society agriculture was neglected, mechanical industry, except upon the most limited scale, was unknown and public improvements, such as the construction of railroads, were impossible and uninought of Amsequantance with and a the construction of railroads, were impossible and united at the An acquaintaines with and a knowledge of the Abor demands and labor and a knowledge of the Abor demands and labor and ply of the East Todies led him to the development of a Chinese emigration to California. Establishing a house in Honk Hong, be soon induoted the shipment of a number of Asiatics to San Francisco, where he readily found employment for them, his house gnaranteeing on one site the prompt payment of labor wages, and on it e other the requalty gertain rendition of services for a supplicated period, usually is twelvements. The emigration increased but slowly for the first few years, but as each succeeding shipload returned after the expiration of their term of service, with more money than slowly for the first few years, but as each succeeding shipload returned after the expiration of their term of service, with more money than could be earned in the Flowery Kingdom in half a dozen such terms, their neighbors, fired with a deaire for wealth, forsook their native gods for a period to serve the barbarian whom they despised, and for the last ten years the house of Koopmanschap, in Hong Kong, has had employed in scores of brokers in each Chinese province gathering together shiploads of laborers, and its house in San Francisco has received by its own line of vessels its thousands of laborers, assigned them their masters, purchased their food, and secured for them their pay.

ands of laborers, assigned them their masters, purchased their food, and secured for them their pay.

By the aid of these houses the Central Pacific Rishroad has been constructed six years earlies than would have been possible without the services of the Chinese laborers, and now Mr. Koopmanschaap trayerses the continent upon that road and its connections to offer for the Southern planters the same labor to aid in making their desolate fields once again the garden of the world. In reply to inquiries, Mr. Koopmanschaap states that he has never had any difficulties as to breach of contract upon the part of the Chinese. Engaged for one year at a certain price, they labor faithfully in California and in the East Indice for a term of years. He is not, however, prepared yet to say exactly at what cost they cambe are cured for the South, and in this the cost of transportation is no inconsiderable item.

The cost at present of bringing each individual to San Francisco is $45, gold. The cost of transportation of large numbers on the Pacific Railroad has not jet been established. Mr. Koopmanschaap, however, believes that the cost of transportation of large numbers on the Pacific Railroad has not jet been established. Mr. Koopmanschaap, however, believes that the cost of transportation of large numbers on the Pacific Railroad has not jet been established. Mr. M. Bri Roopmanschaap, however, believes that the cost of transportation of large numbers on the Pacific Railroad has not jet been established. Mr. M. Bri Roopmanschaap, however, believes that the cost of the cost of duced, after the Memphis Convention will visit New York to ascertain exactly what reduction in railroad rates can be made, and is now confident that the whole cost of delivery to St. Louis will not be over $100 in gold, or equal say to $150 per month on an engagement for five years, which must be pail in advance. Satisfied upon this point, he will proceed at once to china to make arrangements for any number for which he may have orders—from 10,000 up—employing his Chinese brokers in every province of the Celestials next year in February—the period when labor contracts are entered into there.

February — the period when labor contracts are entered into there.

During Mr. Kuopmanschaap's visit here he was desired to supply a large manufacturing establishment with fifty Chinese, which he offered to do, the men to be delivered in August or September, and to be paid $1.25 per day, providing proper guarantees of protection and payment were given, and he will stop here on his return trip from New York, to complete the contract. The provise of protection may need contract. The provise of protection may need explanation. In California the Chinese have been the recipients of much abuse and miny hard knocks from laborers whose places, bey had taken; or whose wages their competition had reduced. The abuse they length as, but the knock they desire companion are also should either had reduced. The source they laugh at, but the knock they designsome one else should either receive, or guard strainst. To this end their contracts with their importers include protection; and it is only upon this consideration and its faithful execution that their labor can be
